

What do those TLCgers say and do?

Have you ever asked yourself...what's my favorite TLCger's super-duper "catch phrase"? Or...hmmm, does my favorite TLCger have a quirky "trademark mannerism" that brings a smile to others faces? Well, ponder no more...we have your answers ☺

See if you can match each TLCger with his/her "catch phrase" or "trademark mannerism". We have several new faces this year...have fun getting to know a little bit more about each of us and good luck ☺

The answers will be posted on www.tlcghawaii.com ...so check 'em out and see if you were right!

"Catch Phrases" and "Trademark Mannerisms":

-  I caress/pet my hair.
-  "Huh?"
-  "O-kaaey." (with a Canadian accent)
-  "That's horsesh*t."
-  I linger at others' desks with a big smile.
-  "I'll go if Trevor goes."
-  "Hello? Can you hear me now? I'm here! Hello?"
-  I use my "nice" voice when talking to women on the phone.
-  "Awrighty."
-  I always shoot my crumbled paper at the trash can...and miss.
-  I blurt out random words of Japanese.
-  "Oh...yeah." (like a lightbulb moment)
-  I groove to music at my desk.
-  "Kee-he-he-he." (laughing)
-  "Tastes like chicken."
-  "Tssst..." (with an eye-roll)
-  I bend over and stick out my butt when I talk to others at their desks.
-  "Sh-uure." (with a Valley-girl accent)
